

Modular in-house education

At a general level, when it comes to cyber-awareness and regulatory issues such as GDPR, all businesses must provide training for their staff. But at an individual level, the needs of each business differ widely. Our modular in-house education offers a way of providing on-going, customised and affordable training to your staff, as and when it is needed.

At Risk Evolves, we are firm believers in the value of education and training: an informed workforce is fundamental to implementing effective systems and processes, while compliance can only be achieved and maintained when the requirements are recognised and understood across the organisation.

We also realise that training will always be a work-in-progress and that on-going, relevant training is vital to educate the staff in a particular culture and mind-set. However successful a half-day workshop or week-long intensive course may be on paper, once your staff are back at their desks, the memory soon fades; theory needs to be applied to actual situations, and constant vigilance is needed to maintain a state of alert.

There's no one-size-fits-all training solution, so we've put together a selection of modules covering such topics as GDPR, Risk Management and Cyber Security, from which you can pick and choose to suit your organisation's specific requirements. You can combine your selections into a package that is paid monthly, spreading the cost while making sure the training that your business needs is available at the time and in the form you need it.

Our aim is to protect your business interests by ensuring your staff are kept informed and aware of their responsibilities. Training takes a range of formats, from in-house face-to-face seminars and workshops, to infographics and advisory posters, to dummy-runs that check understanding of what to do in situations such as receipt of spoof phone calls and phishing emails.

Investing in staff training is essential to achieve business stability and allow for growth, but it's vital to get the right amount of training at the right level. We want to make it easy for you to access the right education for your organisation and your personnel as and when it is needed.

On-going, customised and
affordable training
for your staff.